The Horizon

Foreword

As Indians years ago made their paths through the wilderness, so we must make ours through the dense forest of today until we see beyond the brush that has enveloped our young lives.

After several years of work, friendship, and learning in S. H. S., we find we have become seniors and have more difficult years ahead—years in which we will be faced with greater, worldly tasks. Our small world as lived in S. H. S. has opened to find us standing on the threshold of a new life with problems of the universe resting on our shoulders. We realize that whether there is war or peace, tyranny or freedom, depression or prosperity, we will be the ones conquering the crises in order to bring a new light to the world.

We are certain that our years at Souderton High will prove profitable in the long journey toward the horizon . . .

We Proudly Dedicate The 1959 Unaliyi To Doris Hallman

As we travel along the trail toward the horizon, we realize more and more that much can be learned from previous generations. History always has been and is continuing to be a very important subject.

Realizing this, Mrs. Hallman has constantly endeavored to give the students of Souderton High School a sound background in World History and has insisted that her pupils work up to their capacity. A firm disciplinarian, she has set standards which will benefit us as we face the realities of life. By doing so, she has rightly earned her reputation as one of the most capable and best-liked teachers in our school.

Each year Mrs. Hallman has donated her services as supervisor of the morning activities on May Day. As our advisor in both the sophomore and senior years, she guided and supported our sparks of imagination into worthwhile activities which have become pleasant memories.

For these and the many other contributions she has made to our class in the way of time and effort, we, the class of 1959, dedicate our UNALIYI to Mrs. Hallman.

Congratulations and best wishes to the graduates of 1959.

As a class you learned early the importance of cooperation and teamwork. Because of this, your class activities have been carried out with much success.

Now you stand on the threshold of a new life. You are ready to put into practice the many lessons you have learned and to assume the duties that await you. A democracy needs young people who are willing to work, serve, and lead. The greatest challenge of mankind today is to learn to live together in peace and understanding.

It is my sincere hope that the values which you have learned at Souderton High School will be uppermost in your minds as you strive to reach your goal in life. Youth is a rich gift; use it wisely.

Sincerely,
Doris E. Hallman

planning for the future

After years of planning, our administrators and the various members of six separate school districts have established the Souderton Area Joint High School. A new building, an increased teaching staff, a larger student body, and better facilities are the result of this consolidation. To the men who have brought about this new era in Souderton education, we are very grateful.

Enthusiasm and determination prompted a group of Seniors to meet with Miss Weinert in the fall of '58 to begin planning the 1959 Unaliyi. We chose the American Indian as our general topic and began developing it into a theme. Considering the main objective of cur years at S. H. S.—preparing ourselves for the future—we decided upon "Trails Toward the Horizon" as our theme title. To carry this throughout the entire yearbook Shirley Frederick created our own little Indian.

With the election of the editors in October everyone began to work in earnest to meet the first deadline. We began to realize how many problems, large and small, must be confronted in compiling a yearbook. The editors were faced with the task of making the dummy. Articles were assigned to be written, photographs were taken, and pages were balanced to give a pleasing appearance.

On November 12 a group of "Indians" presented an original skit to introduce the 1959 Unaliyi to the student body. At the same time an elaborate sales campaign was initiated with the business staff, under the guidance of Miss Gerhart, in charge.

Work continued throughout the winter months; finally the entire yearbook was at the printers. Endless hours of hard work went into this publication. We hope that the happy memories of your journey along the trail will justify our strivings.

President Polly Miller

Did you see the attractive bulletin board as you entered the school? This is only one of the worth-while projects undertaken by Student Council.

Student Council, the main link between the faculty and student body, strives toward new policies which are for the best interests of the students of S. H. S. Under the leadership of the president, Polly Miller, the Council has had a successful year. Among their achievements have been the controlling of hall traffic and the promotion of good fellowship among the student body by sponsoring school dances.

Life at S. H. S. in black and white—that's the "Arrowhead." Published weekly in the SOUDERTON INDEPENDENT, the "Arrowhead" reports activities, sports events, dances, and adds variety to news with feature articles, interviews, and poetry.

Advised by Mrs. Kleist first semester, the editors took on full responsibility of "Arrowhead" the second half of the year.

Through the co-operation of the junior and senior reporters, "Arrowhead" is one of Souderton's most popular activities.

Seeing the band come down the field sporting new uniforms at the first football game, the S. H. S. patrons were thrilled. Facts behind this brilliant showing revert to Mr. Foulke's ingenuity and hard work. Not only having arranged all music and planned routines, but also stressing precision and good playing, he aroused the enthusiasm necessary for a well organized group.

During the second semester, the band created enthusiasm at basketball games with snappy Indian "war songs" and ended its year with a concert of music varying from jazz to classical.

An important asset to the S.H.S. tepee is the group of lively Indian maidens. "Rah! Rah! Rah!" "Fight, team, fight!" These shouts cheer on the Souderton Warriors and inspire tribal members to victory.

Under the leadership of Mr. Foulke, these snappy, peppy maidens add much spirit and interest to the sports events.

Football

This year Coach Meyers was faced with the heavy task of rebuilding the team. Unfortunately, many of his key players were inexperienced. In addition to this, they were constantly plagued with injuries which undoubtedly affected the outcome of the games. However, it never dampened their spirit. It is to the team's credit that they gave a thrilling performance in every game. Since competition in the Bux-Mont League was unusually keen this year, we are proud to remember that our team held its own in determination and fight, if not in score.

Basketball

Prior to the season the Souderton Indians had justifiable optimism. An inexperienced, but well-balanced team led by returning letterman Wilson Kratz, they looked forward to a successful season. Although they lost the first several games, the underrated Indians showed surprising strength. The right combination just could not be found. Finally after dropping the first eleven games, the team snapped out of it with a start. They trounced Quakertown 92-82 in an amazing scoring exhibition. With this in mind they looked forward to a much improved second half.

Our Guide For The Future

After we finish our book learnin' days, after life's overture's through.

When the trails of time guide onward our steps, are we ready for all we must do?

Opportunity lies at each of our feet
and knocks at every gate

Challenging all who dare to climb turning from those who wait.

It matters not how small or how great,
how wise or wealthy we grow,

For our souls are not judged by our riches and fame,
but by the seed that we sow.

Life is not built on a single deed,
one thought, or dream gone by;

But on all that we do—both seen and unseen—
on truth, and not on a lie.

Then let us do our works so well,
leaving no task incomplete,

That others as they seek to climb
have paths to guide their feet.

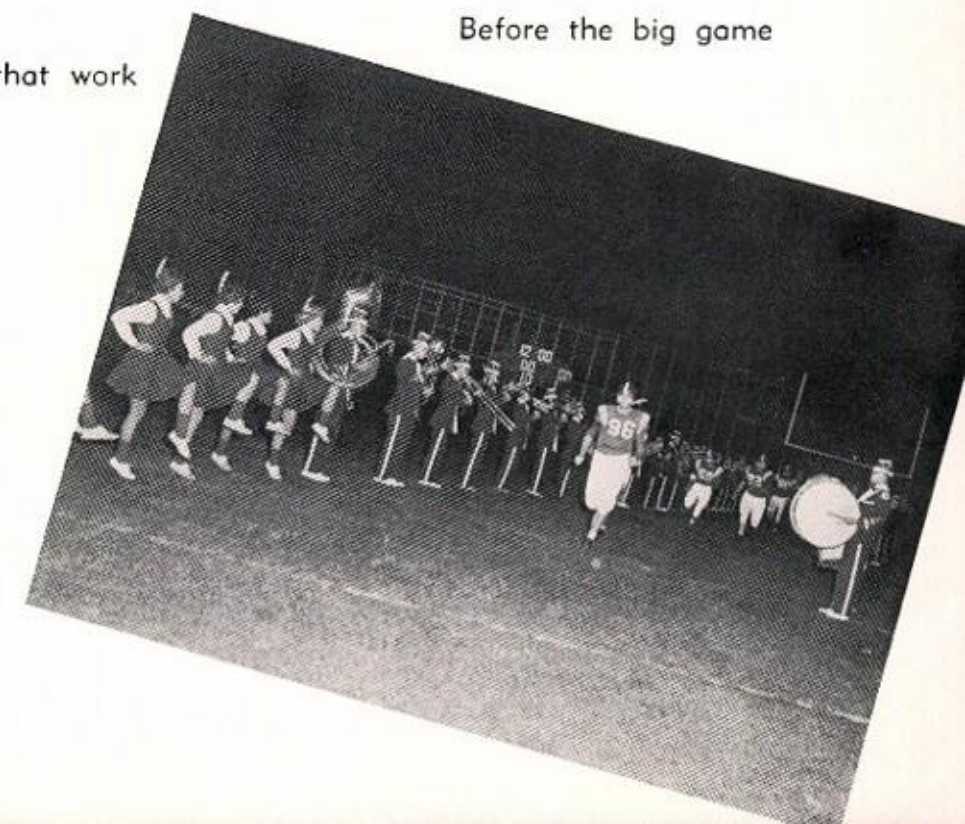
Printing programs for Senior play

Now Group, get that work finished.

Before the big game



Hi Nan!

Get to work!

I'll take that cake.

Everybody's having fun at the Junior Party.

What're you looking at, Ward?
